Dear Chorister

Have a play around with the John Fletcher website and let me know how you get on.

The best thing is to go on to it www.johfletchermusic.org and you will find the front page as below (save it as a favourite website so you know where it is):

Then search for the tune or composer. They do not always come up as we might think but 95% are easy to find.

If you search for Let all mortal flesh keep silence you will get the page below:

And you can see all the tracks. You would normally play the mp3 through the speakers of your PC by clicking on it. If you want to save the mp3 track to your PC then right click on the link and save where you normally keep your learning tracks. They are small files and will not clog the PC up.

Happy learning – any problems let me know.

Cheers Greg
