

Up until July 2023, Penglei Liang was a school teacher in Shanghai. Then the Royal College of Music recognised her talent and offered her a scholarship to study as a professional singer. In December of 2023 she made her professional debut for Lord Williams' Festival Chorus, winning the hearts of the audience with her singing of the solos in Carl Orff's Carmina Burana. Since then, she has made several more appearances in concerts, and she will continue her studies at the RCM this academic year, subject to finding sponsorship for her second year.

Peng Lin is now well known in Bledlow for her wonderful pianistic ability. She has won a multitude international awards and prizes and has appeared as a soloist of many top orchestras.

We are so lucky to have these two wonderful young artists to perform for us.
